

Kansas City's BetterInvesting Church Investment Club Program is Growing

Kansas City's new Church Investment Club program to help more Americans learn how to start a successful investment club at their local church is producing success stories! BetterInvesting chapters are now working with several churches across the country to start a Model Investment Club. This program was initially designed to help minority churches. However, we have heard from clubs interested in starting the program at a variety of churches in their community. We offer this program to all churches in the Kansas City Chapter area. We encourage your club to consider searching for churches in your area who are interested in holding monthly model club meetings and learning through the 12-session seminar course. How does the program work? Each church participating in the program is asked to form a Model Church Club. This club is educated and guided by your Kansas City Chapter. Over a series of 12 sessions, the club will receive training that focuses on the operation of an investment club and key NAIC forms and materials. Other interested congregation members may also attend the training sessions to start their own club at the church. After the training, the Kansas City Model Club will help teach other new clubs forming at the church and within the community. If you know of churches in your area that might be interested in this program or would like information, please contact Robert O'Hara, roberto@betterinvesting.org in BetterInvesting Business Development. Al Mueller, alcmueller@earthlink.net is our Kansas City Chapter Director that you can contact directly for assistance locally.
